

Keep important healthcare matters private and protected.

Employees' healthcare history must be protected.

It's not just the right thing to do—it's the law. TASC can help you comply with these privacy requirements.

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) requires employers who sponsor a self-insured health plan, Flexible Spending Account plan and/or a Health Reimbursement Arrangement plan to protect the privacy of their employees' individually identifiable health information, also known as Protected Health Information (PHI).

TASC ensures HIPAA Compliance

To ensure compliance, employers accepting PHI must place controls around the employees' PHI. This includes establishing an adequate "firewall" around the PHI, certifying that the necessary restrictions exist, and providing a HIPAA Privacy Notice to employees. In addition, employers must have implemented safeguards, and policies and procedures to protect the security of electronically transmitted and electronically stored PHI.

TASC's HIPAA Compliance Services addresses these requirements by providing customers with all the necessary documentation and by providing and training staff who handle PHI.
